small percentage of families have declined the opportunity to borrow a device and are thus working using paper packets. As of June 8th, 93% of students participated in online learning at one point. are actively participating in distance learning. 98.3% of our family consistently participated in Small Groups sessions (twice a week).

Teachers are delivering direct instruction to students through three weekly, pre-recorded video lessons aligned to independent practice activities assigned on the Google classroom platform. These teachers also have small group lessons scheduled with each of their students, twice per week. Additionally, each grade level posts a weekly parent video in the predominant languages that apply to the school (English,

However, in order to ensure that families were connected with supervision resources the school surveyed parents in April. For the parents who expressed that childcare was an issue the school reached out and shared community resources. Additionally, school counselors shared resources with parents who were deemed essential workers.
